SHOOTS WIFE
BY ACCIDENTBullet Intended For Burglar Enters Abdomen Inflicting

PROBABLE FATAL WOUND.

Mr. Carmel, Ill., March 10 — Mrs. T. E. Thurman, wife of a prominent Big Four conductor, was accidentally shot in the abdomen by her husband here this morning and no hope for her recovery is entertained by the surgeons. Thurman is all but crazed over the deed. He had to be restrained from doing himself violence by friends this morning and given continuous care by a physician all day.

The accident was the result of a queer chain of incidents. As Thurman is on the grievance committee of the Order of Railway Conductors, he is away from home much of the time and has to leave his wife here alone. That she might protect herself from harm, he purchased a large pistol for her.

While he was at home last night with her, he was awakened by a noise back of his home. Fearing burglars, he secured the pistol and went to investigate. Returning, he put the pistol under his pillow and retired again.

When Thurman awakened at 5 o'clock this morning he discovered that the pistol had got out from under the pillow and slipped down to where it was resting under his left elbow. At that time his wife was lying on her side, with her face toward him. Thurman reached for his pistol with his right hand and as he was drawing it from under the cover, it suddenly exploded. A shriek from his wife told him that she had been struck.

In his crazed condition, Thurman was still able to explain that he had cocked the pistol during the night and remembered that he had not let the hammer down when he put it back under the pillow. He was but half awake in the morning when he reached for the pistol, he said, and did not remember that he had left it cocked.

Thurman is one of the most prominent railroad conductors in Southern Illinois. His wife is a woman of many accomplishments and well known in social circles. The tragedy has shocked the city.

Surgeons said tonight that the bullet had "passed" entirely through the abdomen. They stated that the chances for recovery were remote. Mrs. Thurman may live for several days, the doctors stated, but they fear that there will be no escape from peritonitis.

Mrs. Thurman was formerly Miss Louise Harland the daughter of John Harland foreman of the Crabtree coal companies mines at Hsley, Ky., and a well known citizen of this county.

BETTER TELEPHONE SERVICE

Two New Copper Wires Strung.

Manager Mitchell, of the Cumberland Telephone Company has lately installed two new copper wires between Earlington and Madisonville, this makes five wires that will be used exclusively for business between these two points and will in a great measure obviate the necessity of centralizing that old familiar phrase, "line's busy."

Dillard Summers is ill this week.

HER CHILDREN.

THE END OF TUBERCULOSIS

Civic Loss Through School
Sickness.

By DR. LEONARD P. AYRES.

Figures from Germany, England, Sweden and seven American cities indicate that in the average city school system the children who are in need of such treatment as that afforded by the open air schools constitute from 3 to 5 per cent of the entire school membership. This means that Albany, for example, should have open air schools in sufficient numbers to care for 300 children, while New York city needs accommodations for 20,000. When such figures as these are mentioned the objection of expense looms high at once, but it must not be forgotten when we are considering expense that a thousand children of school age die each year of tuberculosis in New York city. On the average they have each had about six years of schooling, for which the city has paid about $250. This means a quarter of a million dollars loss each year in the great city in money expended on educating children who die of tuberculosis before growing up. A quarter of a million dollars a year spent in open air schools designed to prevent this frightful waste would go far toward meeting the entire expense.

Fans are warming up to win the pennant, but things will be much warmer Thursday night, March 16, with "Lost in Society's Whirl" on the boards at the Temple Theatre.

Society Happenings

The East End Card Club

The usual weekly meeting of the card club was with Mrs. O. B. Tohnson last Friday. The visitors were Mrs. Cunningham, of Henderson and Miss Atkinson. All of the Club members were present. Mrs. D ves made the highest score. The hostess served a dainty two course luncheon.

His Game Won.

In a campaign in Kansas some years ago, when the tariff was made a dominant issue, an old German was running for a county office in central Kansas. He didn't know enough about the tariff to talk about it two minutes. More than that, he didn't care much, for it had nothing whatever to do with the office he wanted anyway. But the voters were much excited over the question and seemed to think that every candidate should be able to discuss the problem from A to Z.

So this German and his campaign manager invented a successful subterfuge. When the German got up at the meetings to talk he would say: "Now, gentlemen, I will talk mit you about der tariff. It is like"—

Just then his campaign manager would interrupt: "Why, John, you have only five minutes to talk. You cannot do yourself justice in that length of time on the tariff."

"Then I won't talk about der tariff," would be John's inevitable reply, and he would go on to tell that he wanted a certain county office, and so on. His game won, and he was elected.—Kansas City Journal.

The Two Occasions.

At a Scotch temperance meeting an old man, scarcely celebrated for his sobriety, arose and after addressing the audience upon the desirability of moderation in all things, remarked:

"My friends, there's just twa occasions when I tak' whisky."

There was a chorus of "Ahs!" in the audience, when he continued, "I only tak' whisky when I hae haggis for dinner, and the only other occasion when I tak' whisky is when I hae no haggis for dinner."

"Lost in Society's Whirl" does not boast of quantity. Its quality from rise to fall of the curtain.

CARE OF SCHOOL CHILDREN
IN THINLY SETTLED SECTIONProblem Troubling the Hopkins County
Board of Education.

The County Board of Education met Monday for the first time since December and found a lot of business had accumulated. The day was a busy one and the cases that came up first were of such importance and time consuming characters that the entire day was consumed on but two hearings and neither of these were brought to a final conclusion. Both dealt with the problem of caring for pupils in sparsely settled sections of the country, where physical difficulties for the movement of children are serious and the board was not able in the limited time to decide what was best for their interests under the law. The Manu-nigton Country and the Pond River Country out in the direction of the Dutch Fish Trap, furnished the problems for the day. The Board adjourned to meet again on Friday morning, when these matters will again be taken up, together with numerous other things touching the schools of the country.

INCORPORATED

EARLINGTON,

KENTUCKY

HER BRAVE SOLDIER

Miss Molly Harben had found the park a delightful place in the early forenoon hours. The squirrels were out in full force, every bird had its song, and such people as were about carried good-natured faces. Of all places to finish up the last three chapters of an interesting book the park had the lead.

And little Tot, six years old, Miss Molly's niece, had found the park a regular paradise. A quarter of a mile away Capt. Phil Dayton of the army, who had been invalided home from the Philippines, sat on a selected bench every morning and blessed the park.

"Please, sir, I'm lost!" Captain Phil had finished his paper and laid it down beside him and was fairly nodding in sleep. He straightened up with a jerk and opened his eyes very wide at sight of the owner of the voice—little Tot. She stood before him with fingers clasped, a very solemn look on her face, and the suspicion of tears in her eyes.

"I say I'm lost," she repeated as the captain continued to stare.

"Oh, I see," he replied. "You came into the park alone and have got turned around and can't find the way out?"

"No, I didn't come alone. Aunt Molly came with me, I ran away from her and got lost. I've been walking miles and miles, but I can't find her again. She'll be awfully scared."

"And how about you—aren't you scared?"

"Oh, no. I knew I'd find somebody to take me home."

"And what is your name?"

"Tot Foster. Do you think it's a nice name?"

"I surely do. How far do you live from the park?"

"Oh, we have to take a street car, and the conductor charges me full fare. He told Aunt Molly that I was no kid."

"Well, Miss Tot, I think the best thing we can do is to wait right here for a little time. Your aunt will surely be searching for you, and is apt to come this way. Besides, there will be a policeman along soon, and we can get him to help. Plenty of room for you to sit down here by me."

"Thank you, sir!" said Tot with all the dignity of a married woman; and after taking a seat close beside him she continued.

"It wasn't a week ago that Aunt Molly told mamma that if she ever married it would be a brave soldier. You are brave, aren't you?"

"People have said so."

"Then that settles it. As soon as Auntie finds me I'll introduce you. I guess she's gone some other way. Let's walk and wait until we find her."

They walked and walked, and talked and talked, and strangely enough they encountered no one searching for a "lost" girl. One of the entrances was reached at last, and the captain asked:

"Does this look like the place you usually come in at?"

"Why, it surely is," Tot answered.

"Yes, I recognize it by that squirrel there. Now, all we've got to sit down on this bench and wait for auntie. She'll soon come a-flying. But I must know your name or I can't introduce you."

"It's Captain Dayton, if you please." "That's a nice name, and I know auntie will be pleased with it. She's pretty particular about names. My stars, there comes auntie now."

It was true. Aunt Molly and a solemn policeman were coming on the run, and just at that moment an auto came up and stopped at the entrance. There were two exclamations uttered that Captain Dayton did not forget for a year:

"Oh, Tot, my darling!" from the half-distracted aunt.

"In the kidnapping business, eh—come along!" from the solemn policeman.

And while Aunt Molly was hugging Miss Tot and being hugged in return, the soldier was hustled into the auto and the chauffeur ordered to drive to a police station.

"Got him and it's a straight case," said the officer to the lieutenant at the desk.

Captain Dayton gave his name, address and profession. He had the documents with him as corroboration. The lieutenant was about to ask him if he thought the police force could be taken in that way when an auto came chugging up and Miss Tot and Aunt Molly came hurrying in.

"You just let this gentleman go!" ordered the little girl as she advanced and took the prisoner by the hand.

"I'm sure he didn't intend to—intend—" said Aunt Molly, but could get no further.

"And he wasn't trying to kidnap you?" asked the officer of Miss Tot. "Of course he wasn't! He was seeing me home! Aunt Molly, this is Captain Dayton of the army, a perfect gentleman!"

A captain in the army, Dayton did not fail to follow up such an advantage as this. He captured a handsome young woman for a wife.

Great Will Power.

"He says he could quit drinking if he wanted to."

"I believe he could."

"Why are you so positive?"

"He stayed at a summer resort for six weeks once without mailing a single souvenir postcard."

Killed in Mines at Sturgis.

Dexter Butler, age about 28 years old, was killed in the mines at Sturgis late Saturday afternoon. He was killed almost instantly, living only 45 minutes after getting hurt. He was riding a motor and his oil can hit a prop, throwing him from the motor. He leaves only one brother.

His remains were brought here on 51 Sunday afternoon and buried at Grapevine cemetery that afternoon.

Butler formerly worked here for the livery firm of Barnett & Stone, leaving for Sturgis five or six weeks ago.

How He Made His Money.

A rich old man was asked how he made his money. "Simplest thing in the world," he said. "I always did the reverse of what everybody else was doing. If everybody bought, I sold—prices were high. If everybody sold, I bought—prices were low."

Deserved It.

A friend of mine had a lot of hens and wanted to raise some chickens, but his hens wouldn't sit on the eggs. So one night he went into the coop, grabbed one of them and put it on a nest and held it there all night. In the morning, when the light broke into the place, he found that he had grabbed up the rooster by mistake. He was arrested by the federal authorities for illegal use of the male.

After Grippe or any Sickness

Vinol Creates Strength

"After a long attack of Grippe, Mrs. Vaughn seemed unable to recover her strength. She was very weak and had no appetite. VINOL rapidly improved her condition and restored her to health. I sincerely recommend its use during convalescence or any run down condition."

JUDGE C. N. VAUGHN,
Huntsville, Ala.

Miss Adelaide Gamm, of Watertown, Wis., writes, "After a severe attack of the Grippe, my system was in a very weakened, nervous, run-down condition. I took VINOL with the best of results, and it made me feel better and stronger than I have been for years."

We have never sold in our store a more valuable health restorer for weak and run down persons than VINOL, and we ask such people in this vicinity to try VINOL with the understanding that their money will be returned if it does not do all we claim for it.

Grasps Forces of Nature.
A man's mastery over the beasts is not due to his superior strength. The elephant can push him over, the horse can pull more, and the lion can best him naked and bare handed. But he controls the brutes simply because he is wise enough to reach up and get hold of forces in nature more powerful than either the animals or himself.

Deafness Cannot be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; since cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Curious Paradox.
It is a curious paradox that the man with the strongest will is the man who yields the most quickly to opposition. He saves all his strength to throw it into the line of least resistance. He is a good general and does not waste himself battering away at an impregnable position, but makes a flank movement at once.

While a ferryboat was taking cattle across the Trent two animals jumped on board, in addition to three that were being carried. When in midstream all the animals crowded on one side of the boat, which capsized and the ferryman was drowned. The cattle got safely ashore.

A Modern Question.
A mother in Hackensack engaged a young woman as nurse for her baby. After she had wheeled the youngster about the yard for a half-hour, she came into the house and asked: "Do you mind, ma'am, if I smoke cigarettes?" "There is a vacancy in Hackensack."

THE END OF TUBERCULOSIS

The Value of Fresh Air

By BENJAMIN FRANKLIN.

It is recorded of Methuselah, who, being the longest liver, may be supposed to have best preserved his health, that he slept always in the open air, for when he had lived 500 years an angel said unto him, "Arise, Methuselah and build thee an house, for thou shalt live yet 500 years longer." And Methuselah answered and said: "If I am to live but 500 years longer it is not worth while to build me an house. I will sleep in the air as I have been used to do." Physicians, after having for ages contended that the sick should be given fresh air sparingly, have at length discovered that it may do them good. It is therefore to be hoped that they may in time discover likewise that it is not hurtful to those that are in health and that we may then be cured of the aerophobia that at present distresses weak minds and makes them choose to be stifled and poisoned rather than leave open the window of a bed-chamber or put down the glass of a coach. Confined air, when saturated with perspirable matter, will not receive more, and that matter must remain in our bodies and occasion diseases. (From a letter to a friend on the "Art of Securing Pleasant Dreams.")

Look to the Future.

Finish every day and be done with it. You have done what you could. Some blunders and absurdities no doubt crept in; forget them as soon as you can. Tomorrow is a new day; begin it well and serenely, and with too high a spirit to be cumbered with your old nonsense.—Emerson.

When Burglars Met

Patricia Weldon held the receiver to her ear and listened to her chum's voice.

"Pat, dear, do you mind running over to our house to put a few shovels of coal in our furnace? Tom wants me to stay in town for dinner. We will be out on the nine-forteen. It's an awful thing to ask you to do, dear, but we don't want the fire to go out on such a cold night. You don't mind? You are a darling, Pat, and don't forget that when you go in by the cellar door to close it gently—sometimes the lock slips and locks itself. Be careful. Good-by, dear."

Patricia hung up the receiver. She decided to go over to the house herself and attend to the fire. The Stone home was just across a small lot. She slipped her long fur coat over her tea gown and after locking her own door she went over to the house of her friend.

She found no difficulty in opening the cellar door and removed her heavy coat and left it on the smooth, white stairs before venturing to the blackness of the cellar. Patricia went bravely on toward the furnace and began to shovel the coal.

In the big living room above a man sprang quickly to his feet.

"By Jove! There's somebody prowling about in the cellar!" He tiptoed over to a huge bag lying on the couch and took out a large, ugly-looking shotgun.

"I'll just surprise him at his own game—even if the gun isn't loaded."

The man crept cautiously down the cellar stairs, the noise of shaking down the fire drowning his footfalls. Patricia Weldon took one last look into the fire and, turning suddenly, found herself looking into the muzzle of a shotgun. She promptly did the first thing that entered her head. She fell in a faint to the floor.

The man's gun fell almost before the girl dropped. He rushed to her side and with something very much like a swear word on his lips picked up the huddled mass of unconscious beauty and with shaking heart but steady arms carried it up the stairs.

When he stopped, half-way up, to kick the fur coat out of his way, Patricia found her senses. She felt herself being rather reluctantly put down on the couch in the living room. The man sat down beside her then and with a man's awkwardness began to fan her with a magazine.

"Wake up, girl! For goodness' sake wake up!"

Patricia felt instinctively that his next move would be for water, and as she had no desire to be soaked she opened her eyes slowly and effectively.

"Who are you and how do you happen to be in Mrs. Stone's house?" she asked.

"Who are you and how do you come to be in my sister's house?"

The man laughed. "Alice Stone's brother! She has never even mentioned that she has a brother!"

"Nor has she mentioned to me that she has a new chum!"

If the light of understanding dawned in both minds at the same time neither spoke of it.

"I have just come in from a hunting trip and before that I had about circled the globe."

"I suppose the gun you were about to shoot me—"

"Was not loaded. I can't tell you how sorry I am to have frightened you so. I couldn't see any one until you fell—the turn was sudden."

"It was stupid of me to faint. I had come over to fix the fire for Alice."

"If you feel equal to it now, I will get your coat and take you home." The man leaned forward in his chair.

Patricia looked up. "Are you married?" she asked suddenly.

"No. Are you?"

"No."

Then they both laughed.

"Because," Patricia continued, "I prefer, in this instance, to be sensible rather than strictly proper. There is no one home at my house and there is no one here to get your dinner. Now, I am not much of a cook but I intend to get your dinner for you."

The girl looked him squarely in the eyes. "There is not a bit of sense in your sitting alone here and me alone there, especially when—"

"When what?" A light had come into Dick's eyes.

"When I—when you are my best friend's brother." She turned quickly toward the kitchen.

"Alice said there was a nice little steak and some lettuce—"

"Alice!" Patricia turned swiftly toward him, her cheeks scarlet. "What does Alice know about this affair?" She looked suspiciously at Dick Farel.

"Did she know you were here?"

"Sure; I saw her in town and she told me how to get in and to make myself perfectly at home."

Patricia was looking at him accusingly.

"I wouldn't have frightened you out of your wits with a gun if I had known—about you," he put in, defending himself.

Then Pat smiled.

"Alice is not very particular about whom she sends to you for a cook."

"She knows I am not looking for a cook." Dick looked into the girl's eyes.

AD-TALK

What would you think of a salesman who reported for duty one day, lay off for two, worked a half day, went off for a week and so on without any regularity? Surely you would not expect good service from such a man. And yet some merchants hold advertising, which is simply a "salesman," up to great results when it is allowed to "work" very irregularly. The fact that advertising costs money is proof of its value. Things without cost are usually worth only their price.

THE END OF TUBERCULOSIS

Physicians Lack Knowledge.

By GEORGE W. COTTIS.
We may provide all the restriction we wish, we may provide hospitals and enact laws, but we are making bricks without straw unless we provide for fundamental, early diagnosis. I am not afraid to say that 75 per cent of the practicing physicians in New York today are unable to diagnose incipient tuberculosis, that a majority of them do not correctly diagnose even quite advanced cases and that some do not make a proper diagnosis even after death. So it will be a step in advance if we can procure expert physicians to examine patients in each county without expense. And if we can have early diagnosis by these expert physicians, these expert diagnosticians, the smaller counties of the state will be greatly benefited, for they are sadly in need of such assistance.

If you have a friend or relative living at a distance, send them the Semi-Weekly Bee a year it will only cost and dollars and it will be a constant reminder of you, twice each week.

Girls Sold in Slavery.

In Yunnan, China, girls are still sold into slavery. In one year about 300 children from this neighborhood were sold to dealers and carried to the capital in baskets like poultry. At ordinary times the price for girls is 75 cents for each year of their age, but in time of famine children become a drug on the market.

Don't fail to see the handsome line of ladies' fancy neck wear at the St. Bernard store. It is new and nifty.

Strange Bird!

My two little nieces had a bird given to them and were very anxious to see it bathe. On seeing it get into the water or the first time, the three-year-old child exclaimed: "Why, I declare! If it isn't getting right into the water with all its feathers on.—The Delinquent."

New spring line of Gingham and Percals all shades on display at the St. Bernard store. Ask to see it.

Cloistered Virtue.

I cannot praise a fugitive and cloistered virtue, unexercised and unbreathed, that never sallies out and seeks her adversary, but slinks out of the race where that immortal garland is to be run for, not without dust and heat.—Milton.

Therefore if you buy your Spring Clothes of us you may know we shall not sell any other like it to anybody. This applies to fine fancy worsteds and cassimeres of the two manufacturers named first. Of course it does not matter when it comes to plain blue serges and black unfinished worsteds, of which we have a most excellent selection. Prices from $15 00 to $25 00.

We are showing the greatest assortment of patterns in this end of the State.

BISHOP & CO. YOUR MONEY BACK IF YOU WANT IT

Potatoes Better Than Gold.

Carlyle once told a man who was financially interested in gold mining that all the gold ever produced in California was not worth one good mealy potato. And yet the potato in Scotland has a history of less than two hundred years. When Macdonald of Clanranald, in 1748, bought seed potatoes for his tenants in South Ulster they objected to planting them because the potato is not mentioned in the Bible.

Unique Undertaking.

Running a store on the "honesty system" is to be undertaken by the farmers of Stony Ford Grange Middleton, N. Y. A stock will be supplied and when a member wishes to obtain anything therefrom he will be entrusted with the key of the storeroom and whatever he takes he will make a note of and leave the price. If he takes more than he leaves the money for, he will not be trusted a second time.

Overheating Avoided.

The danger of overheating which attends incandescent lamp sockets containing a resistance unit to lessen the brilliancy of the light is avoided by distributing the resistance through a cord, provided with a regulating switch at the end.

Evil Practised of Old London.

An unjust practise which was peculiar to the Old Bailey prison in London was that when an accused person was acquitted he was obliged to pay the fees of Newgate or go back for want of money. Many unfortunate prisoners died in Newgate through this custom.

Marry to Avoid School.

In New York when a young Italian girl does not want to go to school any longer and does not want to work, she evades the truant officer by getting married. It is difficult to handle the case after marriage and such cases are alarmingly frequent.

Rank Cowardice.

It is cowardice to wish to get rid of everything which we do not like. Sickness and sorrow only exist to further man's education in this world; they will not be needed in the future.—Novels.

Bank for Children.

To amuse children, as well as to teach them to save money, a Connecticut man has patented a bank into which a figure of a goat butts a coin placed in a slot in a lifelike manner.

Keep on Smiling.

Make up your mind to this. Until the mortgage is foreclosed you've got your home; until the grocer refuses to deliver any more bread you have credit, and until the toe touches your body you haven't been kicked. It's time enough to fret about these things when they have happened, but until then keep on doing the best you can and smile.

THE END OF TUBERCULOSIS

Stamping Out the Plague.

By JOSEPH H. CHOATE.

I do not think there is any greater or better cause now set before the people of New York, the people of this great state, than to save themselves from this terrible plague, and they can do it if they will. The cities have already accomplished much. New York and Boston and London have reduced by one-half the death rate from this particular evil. It exists where it has been unchecked and unstudied and uncared for in the rural districts of the state and in the smaller cities of the state.

Make Your Store-Advertising as Much a Fixed Feature of Every Issue of This Newspaper as is Our Local Page.

A "feature," or department, of a newspaper wins its readers a few at a time.

Out of thousands who "scan" and "glance at" a store's advertising in this issue, a few hundred will read ALL OF THAT STORE'S ADVERTISEMENT IN THE NEXT ISSUE. But, if that store's advertisement does not APPEAR IN THE NEXT ISSUE, this process of winning regular readers is broken up.

It would be so with our Local Page. If it did not appear REGULARLY, it would forfeit the interest and attention of MOST OF ITS READERS. And the same would be true of our News Page, of our Society Page, and of other features of the paper, which build up their circles of readers surely and steadily, issue by issue.

A store's advertising gets to be MOST EFFECTIVE after it has become a REGULAR FEATURE of the paper—gaining with EVERY ISSUE, new "regular readers," AND HOLDING THOSE GAINED by making the store news really important to them.

This is the law and the "secret" of store-advertising success—ALL OF IT.

Progress.

I was talking with an aged, but very progressive, farmer not long ago and remarked that the course of improvement in farm methods seemed slow. "Bless you, my boy," he answered, "when I started in we only raised nine bushels of wheat to the acre in my state, and now we raise thirteen. I think I've done pretty well." It seems to me that that is not a bad way to look at it. If every one does his part progress is certain, if it does seem slow.—A. M. R.

Medicines that aid nature are always most successful. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy acts on this plan. It loosens the cough, relieves the lungs, opens the secretions and aids nature in restoring the system to a healthy condition. Sold by Geo. King & Sons.

Question of Sex.

A local ironworker who has been married a couple of years always declared that his first son should be named Mat, after one of his best friends. Learning that the ironworker and his wife had recently been blessed with a charming baby, a friend smiled all over his face when he greeted the father on the street. "Well," he beamed, "how is little Mat?" "Mat, nothing," answered the father, "it's Mattress"—Youngstown Telegram.

Human Nature.

Pat was being shown an incubator by one of his friends who had recently removed to the suburbs. He took great interest in all the details and examined everything with great care. Then, as he looked at about a hundred young chickens that had just been hatched, with an awed expression he said: "Human nature is a funny thing, after all."—Everybody's.

Forced to Leave Home.

Every year a large number of poor sufferers, whose lungs are sore and racked with coughs, are urged to go to another climate. But this is costly and not always sure. There's a better way. Let Dr. King's New Discovery cure you at home. "It cured me of lung trouble," writes W. R. Nelson, of Calamine, Ark., "when all else failed and I gained 47 pounds in weight. It's surely the king of all cough and lung cures." Thousands owe their lives and health to it. It's positively guaranteed for Coughs, Colds, LaGrippe, Asthma, Croup—all Throat and Lung troubles. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free at all druggists.

A Thirsty Thief.

There was a thirsty thief on Broadway the other night. He stole 45 cases of champagne and took along the wagon and horses also. He is believed to have concealed them about his person, made a rope of his bed clothes and escaped through the subway.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

A good treatment for a cold settled in the lungs is a HERRICK'S RED PEPPER POROUS PLASTER applied to the chest to draw out inflammation, and BALLARD'S HOREHOUND SYRUP to relax tightness. You get the two remedies for the price of one by buying the dollar size Horehound Syrup; there is a porous plaster free with each bottle. Sold by St. Bernard Mining Co., Incorporated, drug department.

Height of Goodness.

He is good that does good to others. If he suffers for the good he does, he is better still; and if he suffers from them to whom he did good, he is arrived to that height of goodness, that nothing but an increase of his sufferings can add to it; if it proves his death, his virtue is at its summit; it is heroism complete.—Bruyere.

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets are safe, sure and reliable, and have been praised by thousands of women who have been restored to health through their gentle aid and curative properties. Sold by Geo. King & Sons.

Heaven or Hell.

If heaven has not begun for you already it is idle for you to be looking forward to some future day in some distant place when it will begin. And the discontent, the unrest, the envy, the jealousy, the bitterness, the groveling mind, the perverse will, the unsocial temper—if these are your present experiences, they have only to continue and become chronic to make a hell more dread than Milton ever painted.—Washington Gladden.

*Take HERBINE for indigestion. It relieves the pain in a few minutes and forces the fermented matter, which causes the misery, into bowels, where it is expelled. Price 50c. Sold by St. Bernard Mining Co., Incorporated, drug department.

Under Colored Glass.

A Swiss professor of agriculture has been experimenting with cultivation under colored glass, and finds, according to the Review Scientific, that ordinary transparent glass gives the best results. Orange glass forces the plants, but hurts the fruit; violet glass increases the quantity of fruit, but lowers the quality; red, blue and green glass are positively injurious.

Constipation causes headache, nausea, dizziness, languor, heart palpitation. Drastic physics gripe, sicken, weaken the bowels and don't cure. Doan's Regulator acts gently and cures constipation. 25 cents. Ask your druggist.

Not So Serious.

"Was the arrangement you made for those people a tentative one?" "Not so serious. Just only to show it was goin' to work."

Never can you tell when your rash feelings suffer a cut, bruise, burn or scald. Be prepared. Dr. Thomas' Eucletic Oil instantly relieves the pain—quickly cures the wound.

MARCH White Sale

Sale Starts March 13th

Just What These Rare Bargain Offerings Mean To You.

You are back again in the rare June days, my lady, when you cross the threshold and enter into this wonderful world of white for you rub elbows with dainty lingerie, snowy linens, white wash fabrics and domestic that breathe of summer's idle hours. You, who being now forewarned of the bargains for a year's requirements—and promptly—will save largely and wisely. The greatest March Sale of White we ever held starts Monday morning! Let it be understood that the

are precisely what you would buy six months hence and pay a third to a half more for—no old stock is concerned in the sale. The ideas are new and, in so far as style goes, represent correctness down to the smallest detail. Scant justice is paid to the offerings in the brief descriptions this newspaper permits us to make—you must see them else will you underestimate the extraordinary attractiveness of the values. Only the most worthy sources of supply have been drawn upon to make this annual event of March, 1911, one that will pass into the store history as the greatest and best of its kind it was ever our privilege to announce!

MUSLIN UNDERWEAR With Both Discretion and Difference

Big is the best word we know of to describe this White Sale properly. Big in policy, in conception, in carrying out. Big in quality—no woman need be afraid of buying a single garment that looks better than it is. Everything's honest, above-board. Big in quantity—we have never prepared for so extensive a sale. Roughly speaking, ten thousand undergarments are either on the counters this morning, or ready to be brought in as soon as we have room for them. And every single garment is crisp and fresh as newly fallen snow—made up specially for the Lahr Bacon store. Big in economies, too—a natural corollary of the great scope of the sale. For large purchases control prices—that's truisms. And the buying power brings with it the power to dictate to discriminate—to reject, and that's the bane of the manufacturer who wants to get into Lahr Bacon's with inferior goods. It's also his stimulus, his spur, he does his best—or a little better. And his profit by all these favorable conditions, just as by all ways profit by Lahr Bacon's White Sales.

HIS HEART'S DESIRE

Dr. Lambert waited expectantly, his face flushed, his whole attitude that of patience and gentle dignity.

"Maddy, don't refuse. I've asked you to marry me since you wore short skirts and pig-tails."

"I'm sorry, Boyd, but it can't be. You know my ambition. The stage is my life. I never intend to marry," said Madeline Morris firmly.

"But you surely don't think of the aftermath—I mean when the time comes for you to give up your work. A career is all right for a few years, but in her heart of hearts a woman naturally desires a home and some one to love her."

"I don't," she declared, avoiding his eyes.

"You mean you think you don't," corrected Lambert.

"You dear old Boyd! Of course I can't make you understand. You men prate of superior reasoning powers, but you have to own up that women will never remain an enigma. I just couldn't be contented back in Prairie City. I must have a wider horizon."

Quickly his glance took in every detail of her pleasant suite of rooms, one of the best that the hotel afforded—then traveled back to her.

"Maddy, so I must go home with another refusal. I had let myself dream of a different outcome. Your father will be grieved. Before I left, he came to me with tears in his eyes to bid me godspeed."

"Father has Margaret to look after him."

"Yes, and Margaret is good and kind, but you were always his pet."

"I get home twice a year to see him and then my salary helps wonderfully. Doctors haven't a reputation for being good business men. Father has thousands of dollars on his books that he will never get."

"Maddy, I must be going. It is getting near my train time," he interrupted, rising. "If you ever change your mind remember that there is a heart and home waiting for you in Prairie City."

Madeline arose and extended her hand. "You are so very kind."

"Good-by, Maddy."

"Good-by."

He paused a instant after opening the door and gave her one long look. Then the door closed and he was gone. It had been six months since Boyd's visit when one night after the opening performance in Chicago, Madeline was handed a telegram. With trembling hands she tore open the yellow envelope and read:

"Madeline Morris, Olympic Theater—Your father very low. Come at once."

The next morning she arrived in Prairie City. Margaret, looking tired and worried, met her at the train with old Daisy and the queer family survey. After warm greetings, Margaret and Madeline drove home.

"Father had a very bad stroke of paralysis. He can't speak," Margaret whispered. "Boyd says that he won't live through the night."

They were nearing the old home—a

CHOOSING A GIFT

"Good morning. I am looking for 'The Rose-Colored World' in a pretty binding. Will you—"

"Oh, you are just the floorwalker. I took you for a book clerk. You had such a knowing air. It must be very difficult to know all the authors and the color of the binding they use. Please direct me to a clerk who will understand what a man like I am, my husband, would like to find, although I think I shall buy 'The Rose-Colored World' for a gift. Such a pretty title."

"Thank you. I'll wait for that good-looking young man who is standing at the fidgety old person."

"Yes, Mr. Clerk, I am waiting. I am glad you are ready at last for I was beginning to have doubts as to what I want to get for my husband. There are so many to choose from. I want something suitable for a gentleman who is very intellectual, so you must take lots of trouble to show me the very best."

"I'll give you an idea of what I want. It must not be too light and not too serious, nor so interesting that it will take his whole evenings when he is reading it. If he is absorbed in a book I never have a chance to say a word to him. I get awfully jealous of his books sometimes. Will you—"

"I'll wait until that person stops asking you questions. Some women have no idea of a book clerk's time."

"I may as well let you know that Henry—Mr. Dodson—is very particular about titles. For my part, I like romantic titles. 'The Rose-Colored World' sounds so pretty that I'll look at it. Is that—"

"Oh, that cover would never do—it would not harmonize with the cover on the library table. Now I shall have to begin all over again. If I had thought to bring that table cover with me—but one is so likely to lose a package carrying it at this time of the year."

"Now, what else have you? 'The Recall of Love'—that sounds interesting. If it was 'The Call of Love' it would be ever so much nicer. Haven't you a book of that name? Some one ought to write one. I believe I could write a book. I know so many interesting things about love and romance that I—"

"Not that one—we're not interested in the married life of the Carrolls. I don't even know who they are, so why waste time or people one has never even heard of?"

"I almost think I should like to be a clerk in a book store—you meet so many intellectual persons. I want gilt on the edges—it must not look ordinary."

"The Girl I Left Behind Me." I never let my husband get away from me for a minute. Perhaps this book would remind him of the widow he used to know. She always pretended to him that she was a deep thinker—as if Henry cared for that!"

"I wish I had decided upon a necktie. I didn't know it would be such a bother to find a book. Now, you choose one and let me see whether I like it or not."

"What a pretty binding! 'His Gift Wife.' Well, no one gave me to Henry—he just found me at the Art Institute in one of the galleries, and I asked him to let me see his catalogue. Wasn't that romantic?"

"Very well, you may try again. 'The Second Wife.' Goodness! Take it away, quick! That book nearly wrecked our happiness. Some one loaned it to Henry and I asked him if he would ever, ever marry again in case anything happened to me and he said, 'Probably.' I told him I would never marry another man who even thought it possible to love twice in this existence or any other. I convinced him that one wife was enough, but I never want to see that book again—it gives me the shivers."

"I hope you don't think I am keeping you a long time—I know you'll find the right thing in the end. Catering for two—cozy, but it might be difficult for me if he wanted me to try—"

"Bride of the Nile." I wish it was Niagara—that's where we went. Have you one—"

"You are showing me so many that I can't look at them fast enough. 'The Coming Race.' Mercy, no! Oh, I wish Henry liked neckties better and books less. I could enjoy the tie with him and the book just keeps him reading when I want to talk to him."

"Woman's Wiles." No, that is a subject I don't care to have him read. I'll take the next thing you offer me with my eyes shut. Did you ever buy a book that way?"

"How to Keep Hens for profit." Of all things! "At least, it won't be so interesting that he'll spend the whole evening reading—I think I'll take it, although I like the title of that 'Not Like Other Girls' better. I wonder if a necktie would have been more suitable after all."

By DR. WILLIAM OSLER.

This is not a battle of a year or a generation. The probabilities are that it will take two or three generations at least before we have the mortality from tuberculosis reduced to the rate, say, of that of typhoid fever in well regulated countries. This will probably be a matter of two or three generations. Whether tuberculosis will be finally eradicated is an open question. It is a foe that is very deeply entrenched in the human race, but when we think of what has been done in one generation, how the mortality has been reduced in some localities 50 and even 100 per cent, we at least feel that we can continue the battle with hope, and so long as we are fighting with hope the victory is in sight.

Ancient Ceremony.

The ancient ceremony of placing leaves in which cots had been inserted on the tombstone in Selston churchyard, Nottingham, for old people to pick up and take away, was observed the other Sunday.

Ivory Knives.

The handles of ivory knives are used, dip a chamolite skin in water, dip in powdered pumice, and rub.

Spent for Electricity.

An average of from $15 to $16 a year an individual is spent in the United States for electricity.

Largest Theater.

The largest theater is the Paris Opera house, covering three acres.

Gush!

Not all gushing letters are written with fountain pens.

Refreshing Disinfectant.

The following is a refreshing disinfectant for sick room or any room having an unpleasant odor pervading it: Put some fresh ground coffee in a saucer and in the center place a small piece of camphor gum, which light with a match. As the gum burns allow enough coffee to consume with it. The perfume is pleasant and healthful, being far superior to pastilles, and much cheaper.

HAVE YOU TRIED PAXTINE

The Great Toilet Germicide?

You don't have to pay 50c or $1.00 a pint for Listerian antiseptics or peroxide. You can make 16 pints of a more cleansing, germicidal, healing and deodorizing antiseptic solution with one 25c box of Paxtine, a soluble antiseptic powder, obtainable at any drug store.

Paxtine destroys germs that cause disease, decay and odors—that is why it is the best mouth wash and gargle, and why it purifies the breath, cleanses and preserves the teeth better than ordinary dentifrices, and in sponge bathing it completely eradicates perspiration and other disagreeable body odors. Every dainty woman appreciates this and its many other toilet and hygienic uses.

Paxtine is splendid for sore throat, inflamed eyes and to purify mouth and breath after smoking. You can get Paxtine Toilet Antiseptic at any drug store, price 25c and 50c, or by mail postpaid from The Paxtine Toilet Co., Boston, Mass., who will send you a free sample if you would like to try it before buying.

Bad Price, Bad Work.

Craftsmanship used to be the keynote of labor. The aim was to produce an excellent thing, to sell at a good price. The modern business man tries to produce quickly a rotten and fantastic article, so as to be able to sell at a bad price in enormous quantities. So far is this paradox true that a real economist nearly always buys the most expensive things, and the cheapjack is as often as not a millionaire.—R. B. Buckley, in London T. P. Weekly.

A Happy Comet.

Harry, aged six years, was greatly excited over his first trip on a steamboat, and his father allowed him to stay on deck with him for a while in the evening. His attention was at once directed to the light of the searchlight moving to and fro. Excitedly, he grasped his father's hand and said: "Daddy, look! There must be a happy comet near here. See how he wags his tail."

To Relieve a Burn.

A free application of soft soap to a fresh burn almost instantly removes the fire from the flesh. If the injury is severe, as soon as the pain ceases apply linseed oil and then dust over with fine flour. When this covering dries hard repeat the oil and flour dressing until a good coating is obtained. When the latter dries allow it to stand until it cracks and falls off, as it will in a day or two, and a new skin will be found to have formed where the skin was burned.

Cat Was Boiling, Too.

The cat settled herself luxuriously in front of the kitchen range. Jennie, six years old, and unused to the homey comfort of a rural residence, regarded fire and pussy alike with interest. The cat began to purr, and Jennie, whose widening experience recently had included the boiling of water in a kettle, cried out: "Grandma! Grandma! Come here quickly. The cat's begun to boil, too!"

Wanted the Hired Man.

"Are you the owner of this place?" asked the book agent. "I am," replied Farmer Coratossel. "Anything I can do for you?" "No. The chances are that you are too hard-worked to have time to read anything, and that you haven't any spare change, anyhow. Let me talk to the hired man."

The Idea of Heaven.

"The idea of heaven is a— all the mothers have colds— all the girls go around with handkerchiefs and wring their noses."

Science of Farming.

The science of farming is not as much in trying to take out of the soil every pound it will yield as in putting back what it will hold.

Largest Stone Statue.

Japan has the largest stone statue in the world, a figure forty-four feet high.

Your Comb.

Combs should not be washed with water. This is apt to split the teeth. A stiff nailbrush is a good thing to keep for cleaning them. After using the brush take a damp cloth and wipe between each tooth with this.

A Distinction.

Ladies and gentlemen are permitted to have friends in the kennel, but not in the kitchen.—A. Bernard Shaw.
